

CLOSER TO THE COASTS

A third parameter complicates the interactions between the air and the ocean: the coasts. Their relief has an influence on tides, waves and currents, which makes creating the models more difficult. Yet economic and ecological interests are concentrated precisely in these areas, together with most of the associated risks. The technology carried by Jason-2 will improve the models' performance close to the coasts.

© D. Leloup

© Ifremer/ S. Lesbats

© Footia/M. Clerc